

Verizon hiring 135 in Greenville

Verizon Wireless continues to expand in South Carolina. After announcing it will hire 500 in Northeast Richmond, Verizon announced Wednesday that it will hire 135 at its customer service center in Greenville.

Staff Report

Published Feb. 24, 2011

Verizon Wireless \(http://www.verizonwireless.com\) plans to hire 135 full-time customer service and technical support professionals at its Greenville call center over the next two months.

Interested candidates may apply online by visiting the Verizon Wireless website at www.vzwireless.com (<http://www.vzwireless.com>). Interviews for vacant positions will start immediately with a series of training classes for new employees scheduled over the next two months.

Earlier this month, Verizon Wireless said it was hiring almost 500 people at the call center in Northeast Richland as a result of turnover and expected growth following the addition of the popular iPhone to its line of smart phone products. Previously, the iPhone had been available exclusively with AT&T.

Previous coverage

Verizon looks to grow locally in 2011 \(http://www.gsabusiness.com/news/38042-verizon-looks-to-grow-locally-in-2011\)
Customers flock to Greenville Verizon for iPhone \(http://www.gsabusiness.com/news/38205-customers-flock-to-greenville-verizon-for-iphone\)

The positions offer competitive salaries and benefits, including health care coverage that begins on the first day of employment and participation in the company's 401(k) program with a dollar-for-dollar match up to 6% of employee salary contributions, Verizon said. Employees may also receive tuition reimbursement, adoption assistance and annual bonuses.

Additionally, full-time employees have access to lactation rooms for new mothers, on-site college courses, educational study rooms, dining facilities and an on-site fitness center.

Print \(#\)

